Class Content:

TOEFL

TOEFL stands for a test of English as a foreign language which is a 3 hours online test. It is standard test for every student who wants to go to U.S. to study as an international student but it is also accepted in 8,500 institutions across 130 countries, as well as all of the world's top 100 universities. Our course will mainly focus on reading and writing. This is because at an international school most students use English when studying in class so they have very little difficulty with speaking and listening but they still struggle to read the academic texts which appear in the TOEFL test as they are often taken from university text books or articles which are a much higher level than what they study at school. Students also need help with writing to understand the format and how to give a model answer which will give them a high score. Students will learn speed reading skills, key vocabulary and reading comprehension skills to master the reading section. For the writing section students will be given many writing models and will also learn different grammatical structures and vocabulary so their writing can be both concise but still have a variety of sentence structures and literary techniques.

Classes will be held twice a week for 2 hours each class.
